MISSION STATEMENT
The mission of Alaska Power Association is to assist our members in accomplishing their goals of delivering electric energy and other services at the best value to their consumers.

HISTORY
Electric cooperatives in Alaska joined together to form the Alaska Rural Electric Cooperative Association in 1952. Through the association’s advocacy and by sharing their resources, cooperatives pioneered electric service to many Alaska communities. Today, more than 90 percent of Alaskans receive their electricity from electric cooperatives or municipal utilities.

In 1979, ARECA hired its first staff—an executive director—and began providing services that assist utility members with their goals of providing reliable service at the lowest reasonable cost. The trade association’s advocacy has focused on keeping electric rates affordable for consumers and strengthening Alaska’s energy systems.

In 2003, ARECA changed its name to Alaska Power Association and has continued to advocate on behalf of the interests of its member utilities on current issues.

The organization is governed by a board of directors of representatives from each of the member electric cooperatives, joint action agencies and municipal member utilities.

Staff provides governmental representation, industry information, insurance, training, and other services to member utilities and to Alaska Power Association’s sister organizations: ARECA Insurance Exchange (AIE); and ARECA Educational Foundation Inc. (AEF).
ALASKA POWER ASSOCIATION
MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS

For more than 69 years, Alaska Power Association has provided services to help its members—Alaska’s electric utilities—provide safe, reliable and affordable power to Alaskans. APA is a 501(c)(6) nonprofit organization with three classifications of memberships: active, associate and supporting.

ACTIVE MEMBERS
This category of membership applies to rural electric cooperatives, municipal electric utilities, regional electric authorities or joint action agencies organized under the laws of the state of Alaska with annual sales of at least 800 MWh. Active members are represented on the Alaska Power Association Board of Directors.

ASSOCIATE MEMBERS
This type of membership is for utilities or organizations not eligible for active membership but with a substantial interest in the association. APA associate members include smaller-sized rural electric utilities, investor-owned utilities, telephone cooperatives and the state of Alaska’s energy authority.

SUPPORTING MEMBERS
Supporting memberships are for individuals, partnerships, corporations or other organizations not eligible for active or associate membership but with a substantial interest in the activities of Alaska Power Association. Many companies that provide products and services to the electric industry are represented in this membership category.

ALASKA POWER ASSOCIATION MEMBERS:
- Have a voice in the development of electric industry positions.
- Join forces to advocate for legislative issues and regulatory matters that affect Alaska electric consumers.
- Take part in forums for networking and information sharing on industry issues.
- Have a link to their organization’s website on the Alaska Power Association website.
- Receive information to stay current on industry-specific news and events.
- Are listed in the annual membership directory.
- Receive marketing and public relations opportunities via the newsletter, event sponsorships and trade shows.

ARECA INSURANCE EXCHANGE
MISSION STATEMENT

MISSION STATEMENT
ARECA Insurance Exchange (AIE) provides affordable insurance to Alaska utilities while building member equity and providing quality customer service to Exchange subscribers.

ARECA Insurance Exchange is the clear choice for electric and telephone utilities seeking to effectively manage and lower the total cost of their risk. It is a full service, multiline insurance carrier with an A- rating from A.M. Best, the highest possible rating for a company its size. Seventeen Alaska utilities are AIE members. The policyholders own the Exchange and receive a share in the company's underwriting and investment profits.

In 1983, swings in the insurance market left many Alaska businesses scrambling for a way to cover their risk as companies limited their offerings. In the continuing cooperative spirit of working together to meet a challenge, Alaska Power Association members formed the Exchange to provide critical insurance coverage at reasonable rates.

If you are a representative of an Alaska Power Association active or associate member utility and would like more information on joining AIE, please contact us.

POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEES

HATCHER-WILLIAMS-TURKINGTON EMPLOYEE AWARD

Lloyd Pikok
Receiving APA’s Hatcher-Williams-Turkington Employee Award for 2019 was Lloyd Pikok, assistant natural gas superintendent at Barrow Utilities and Electric Cooperative Inc. (BUECI).

Lloyd has worked for BUECI for 31 years. He was recognized for his dedication to the co-op, his fellow employees and the community he serves. Lloyd has stepped in to fill critical roles at the co-op when other employees are on leave. He also has an encyclopedic knowledge of the operations and history of his utility, and his focus on safety is an attribute that benefits everyone. Lloyd also puts in extra hours using utility equipment to dig graves in the frozen tundra and counseling families on the process of setting up a gravesite and getting proper permissions from the city.

MASON LAZELLE ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

John Duhamel
The 2019 Mason LaZelle Achievement Award winner is John Duhamel, CEO of Copper Valley Electric Association (CVEA), chairman of the APA Hydropower Working Group and a member of APA’s Managers’ Forum.

John has repeatedly climbed into the trenches with APA on numerous issues, bringing a granular knowledge of state and federal regulations and their impacts on what APA’s members do. He takes that knowledge directly to the agencies that proffer those rules to show them what their regulations are doing to real people who must pay for ever-expanding regulations on electric utilities. John has also put a prime focus on safety, and his utility has won top safety awards the past two years in a row. Under John’s leadership, CVEA has invested in its community, helped local youth achieve their goals and provided funding for the betterment of the communities served.

AK CARE & ACRE

The Alaska Committee for the Advancement of Rural Electrification (AK CARE) was organized by Alaska’s electric cooperative leaders in 1985.

Every year, ACRE—the political action committee of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association—returns a percentage of contributions to states from which the donations were raised. In Alaska, national funds are combined with AK CARE donations to help support selected state senate and house of representatives candidates. AK CARE contributions are for candidates who support rural electrification efforts that benefit more than a half-million of Alaska’s electric consumers. AK CARE is nonpartisan and makes contributions on the basis of a candidate’s support for positions and policies endorsed by the membership of Alaska Power Association.

The Action Committee for Rural Electrification is the political action committee of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

What makes ACRE different from other PACs?

ACRE funds are personal contributions from local co-op managers, directors, employees and member-owners of electric cooperatives. ACRE is a true grassroots program, made up of activists who understand that political involvement is a necessary ingredient for success in the political process. ACRE members come from all backgrounds and regions of the country and represent the interests of the nation’s nearly 1,000 not-for-profit electric cooperative systems and their 42 million consumers in rural and suburban areas of the country.

ACRE supports congressional candidates, regardless of party, who share public policy goals consistent with the mission of member-owned electric cooperatives. While ACRE supports candidates for the U.S. House and Senate, it does not contribute to presidential campaigns. Approximately half of the contributions to ACRE are returned to the statewide associations or political action committees for use in state elections.

All PAC contributions, including ACRE’s monthly disclosure report, are available from the Federal Election Commission’s website at www.fec.gov.

For details on how to join Alaska Power Association’s AK CARE and ACRE efforts, visit www.alaskapower.org/political-action-committees.htm or contact the deputy director at 907-771-5711 or the executive coordinator at 907-771-5712.

YOUTH PROGRAMS

NRECA YOUTH TOUR OF WASHINGTON, D.C.
Each year, APA’s David P. Hutchens Scholarship sends an Alaska student to Washington, D.C., as part of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association’s (NRECA) Youth Tour. The tour, which began when Lyndon B. Johnson was president, affords students from across the country a chance to learn first-hand what it’s like to be involved in politics, community service and today’s pressing issues.

In 2020, Katherine Delker, Homer Electric Association, will go to Washington, D.C., as the Alaska representative.

YOUTH RALLY
For 20 years, Alaska Electric Utilities have sent high school students to a one-week youth leadership program in Caldwell, Idaho, called the Idaho Consumer-owned Utility Association Youth Rally.

At the Youth Rally, students hear how the Rural Electrification Administration supplied electric power to families in the poorest, most rural communities in the country. They also learn how public power utilities are governed by citizen volunteers on boards and commissions. During the week, the students take part in team-building exercises and hear presentations by motivational speakers.

By the end of the rally, the students are well versed in public power history, the role of an electric utility in the community and the importance of member-owned governance. Many are ready to serve as enthusiastic ambassadors for their local electric utility.

This year’s participants were Katherine Delker and Olivia Davis from HEA and Jessica Hale and Sophia Palomar from CVEA. Tanya Lautaret, HEA, was the chaperone.
