

Alaska Power Association Hank Nikkels Scholarship for Engineers

Alaska Power Association (APA) is offering scholarship opportunities of up to $4,000 and textbook stipends of up to $1,000 for Alaska residents attending college who are studying engineering. APA is the statewide trade association for the electric utilities that supply power to more than a half-million Alaskans in communities from Barrow to Adak, through the Interior and Southcentral, and down the Inside Passage.

Hank Nikkels was a 25-year management employee of the Municipality of Anchorage at Municipal Light & Power and a leader in Alaska's electric industry who died in 2002. The Alaska Power Association membership established a scholarship in his memory to help ensure future electric utility leaders have an opportunity to further their education in the electric power industry.

Rules of eligibility

- The scholarship is for Alaska residents attending college in Alaska or outside of Alaska full-time or part-time working toward obtaining a doctoral, Master or Bachelor of Science degree in engineering (electrical, mechanical, civil, or computer science).
- Students pursuing a bachelor's degree must be at least a sophomore.
- Applicants must have a minimum 3.25 grade point average at the time of application.
- Preference will be given to students from communities that receive electric power from an Alaska Power Association member electric utility. Additional points will be given to in-state students during scholarship application evaluations.

Scholarship process

A completed and signed application (on the next page) must be accompanied by:

- A current college academic transcript (an official transcript is preferred)
- A letter of recommendation from each of the following individuals:
 - Instructor or department chair
 - Community member, industry member, or employer
 - Personal reference
- A 500-word essay, including a personal history, which addresses this question:
 - In what role do you see yourself contributing to the electric industry in Alaska?

The completed application (see next page) and the supporting documentation (transcript, letters of recommendation, and essay) must be received by Alaska Power Association no later than 5 p.m. Friday, June 3, 2022. It is the responsibility of the scholarship applicant to contact Alaska Power Association to ensure that the scholarship packet was received by the deadline.
